

July '45 Class Inaugurates Scholarship Fund

Father Hacker Returns After Jubilee Tour

"Few events of my life", asserts the Rev. John G. Hacker, S.J., "have given me greater personal satisfaction than my Golden Jubilee trip of last September and October. I had the opportunity to visit many of my teachers, ecclesiastical associates and other old friends".

Fr. Hacker culminated the celebration of the Golden Jubilee of his entrance into the Society of Jesus with a solemn Mass of Thanksgiving at Loyola last September. Immediately afterwards, he began the journey which took him to many of the places where he had been stationed during his life in the Society.

Two Jubilarians Begin Trip

At Auriesville, N. Y., Fr. Hacker was joined by another Jubilarian, the Rev. Frederick Grewen, S.J. They first stopped at Buffalo, N. Y., where Fr. Hacker celebrated a Mass of Thanksgiving in the Canisius High School Chapel. "I remember this especially because the choir sang several of my own compositions during the Mass", he said.

"We arrived at Campion College, Prairie du Chien, Wis.", Fr. Hacker continued, "on October 5. This was my first visit in thirty-nine years, although I entered the Society there".

Fr. Hacker Continues Alone

Because of illness, Fr. Grewen remained at Campion and Fr. Hacker traveled on to St. Mary's, Kan., to visit a former professor of his, the Rev. Joseph Spaeth, S.J., whose teachings had "a profound influence upon my life".

After many other visits Fr. Hacker finished his journey with a two day rest at West Baden, Ind. This Jesuit Theologate and Philosophate was formerly a huge mineral water hotel renowned for its health cure and scenery.

The Jubilarian returned to Baltimore and Loyola November 1.

Trustees Offer 5 Scholarships

The Board of Trustees of Loyola College is once more offering five scholarships, valued at $400.00 each, to the senior high school graduates who attain the five highest grades in a scholarship examination. This will be held at Loyola tomorrow morning, December 15, from 9 to 11 a. m.

The examination will consist of English, Mathematics, and Psychological Aptitude tests. Applications for the scholarships closed December 12.

Students for the new Freshman Class will enroll here on February 2, the official registration day, but applications are now being accepted. The deadline for application is January 9, 1946.

Courses leading to A. B., B. S. I, B. S. II, and Ph. B. degrees are open to the incoming Freshmen.

"Glory To God — Peace To Men"

"Glory to God in the Highest and on earth Peace to men of good will." This was the message of the angels very early on the night that Christ was born. Broken human lives, bruised human hearts and starved bodies are not the best soil in which "good will" can grow. Only the Infinite Charity of God, so appealingly manifest in the Babe of Bethlehem lying in the manger, can generate and inspire that same charity in the hearts of men capable of mending broken lives, healing bruised hearts and nourishing famished bodies.

That you may possess this charity in abundance is the sincere wish of the members of the Faculty to the alumni, students, parents and friends on the Christmas day of this memorable year, 1945.

Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J.
President, Loyola College

Welcome Back, Lefty Reitz!!

After twenty months service in the United States Navy, Emil (Lefty) Reitz, former Director of Athletics at Loyola College, has returned to Loyola.

Lefty received his discharge two weeks ago, having completed his work as a Second Class Petty Officer at Penn State College. Immediately he wrote to the Rev. William V. Herlihy, S. J., present Director of Athletics, and reported that he was ready to take up his coaching duties.

With one accord, we at Loyola say "Welcome Back, Lefty Reitz!!".

Editor Journeys To Washington To Interview Senator Tydings

November 19, 1945

WILL DO MY BEST TO ARRANGE BRIEF APPOINTMENT FOR YOU ABOUT TWELVE NOON ON TUESDAY, THE TWENTIETH AT TWO TWENTY SEVEN SENATE OFFICE BUILDING.

M. E. TYDINGS
USS

By Robert E. Hiltz

The telegraph message reached me Monday night. By Tuesday noon, after the train ride to the nation's capital, I found myself sitting opposite Millard E. Tydings, United States Senator from Maryland.

We sat in the Reception Room on the second floor of the United States Senate Building. Senator Tydings was clad in a light gray suit with a white shirt and colored blue tie. His height and erectness reminds one of Army or Navy training. He has a very rudy, lean face and a chiseled jaw that moves snappingly when he talks. Despite his long frame, his shoulders are broad. He sat there, immaculate, ready to answer any questions I might ask.

Though the Senator's telegram had instructed me to come to his office at 227 Senate Office Building, I was requested by his secretary to go over to the Senate Building where I could see the Senator.

Took Underground Railroad

"Why don't you take our little railroad?" she suggested. "Take the elevator down to the basement and you can't miss it. It will take you right to the Senate."

Maryland Senator

Hon. Millard E. Tydings

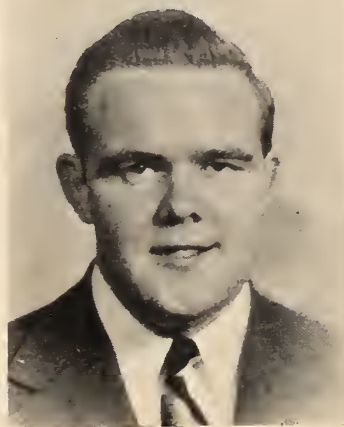

Down in the basement was a large circular room, with several exits and at one end a double track leading down a lighted passageway. After a minute an open single-car

Purchases Of Insurance Policies To Furnish Funds For Memorial

As a memorial to the class of July, 1945, and those from it who gave their lives in the war, the graduates of the class of July, 1945, have inaugurated a scholarship fund for future eligible students of Loyola.

Sodality Prefect

E. Paul Coffay, Jr.

However, unlike the scholarships of former years, this fund will be established by means of life insurance policies taken out by all the cooperating members of the class.

Eleven Graduates Pledged

Laurence P. Molloy, Howard J. Strott, Jr., George D. Edwards and William A. Meyer, acting in cooperation with the Very Reverend Edward B. Bunn, S. J., president of the College, have already begun the operation of the plan. They have secured the pledges of eleven graduates.

Each person pledged will apply for a thousand dollar life insurance policy. At the death of each insured graduate, the terms of the policy stipulate that the entire benefit be turned over to the college.

Not An Endowment Fund

"However", explained Laurence P. Molloy, chairman of the newly-created Alumni Scholarship Fund, "this is not an endowment. In an endowment, a trust fund is gradually built up and the interest derived from the fund given periodically to the college.

"Instead of an endowment which would necessitate a long period of accumulation for any sizeable amount, we propose that the money derived from the insurance policies

Sodalists Hold Yuletide Party

The Sodality Union of Baltimore will present a Christmas party for the children of Saint Elizabeth's Orphanage on Sunday evening, December 16, for the third consecutive year. The affair will consist of entertainment, refreshments and distribution of presents.

At 7 o'clock, Santa Claus, in the person of Joseph B. Bronushas, will appear and hand out presents.

Three Committees Organized

Loyola will provide both the entertainment and the refreshments while Notre Dame and Mount Saint Agnes will jointly take care of the gifts. Robert E. Hiltz is head of the entertainment committee and Thomas L. Lalley of the refreshment committee. Joan McNulty and V. M. Stubbings are committee chairwomen in charge of gifts at Notre Dame and Mount Saint Agnes, respectively.

Loyola Musicians

Paul Coffay has assembled a group of the college musicians to furnish some melodies. The band consists of John Herbert at the piano; Salvatore Vizzini, accordionist; Paul Collins, guitarist; and Joseph Parlett, trumpeter. In addition, William Cahill, Arnold Hayes, John Blume and Philip Lohrey will form a barber-shop quartet to render some well known favorites. Notre Dame has also promised to supply a quartet. The show will be rounded out by movies donated by several Loyola students.

Christmas Carols

To the Parents, Students and Friends of Loyola College, "Seasons Greetings and an invitation to be present for the annual Christmas Carols entertainment to be sung by a group composed of faculty members and students, on Sunday afternoon, December 16, at 4 p. m.

After the entertainment, the Very Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., President, will hold a reception in the Oak Room.

Orators Debate At JHU Today

Today the Bellarmine Debating Society meets Johns Hopkins University at 4:00 p. m. for Loyola's first intercollegiate debate of the year. The debate will be held at Levering Hall, the Sherwood Room, at 4:00 p. m., and will be non-decision.

Gene Fairly and Joseph Adler will uphold the affirmative for Hopkins; Thomas L. Lalley and Richard E. Rebbert the negative for Loyola. The 1945 collegiate topic, "Resolved: That the policy of the United States be directed toward the establishment of free trade among the nations of the world" will be discussed.

Charter Approved By Members

At its regular meeting on December 4, the club members approved a new charter after it had been pointed out by the Student Council that there was none for the society.

Lalley Contacting Other Colleges

In order to assure the debaters a full schedule, Lalley, president of the society, has been corresponding with the societies of other Eastern Seaboard colleges. In addition to the return debate with Hopkins to be held here in January, he has contacted St. Joseph's, Rosemont Villanova and Women's College of Pennsylvania State, Pennsylvania; St. Peter's, Jersey City; and Manhattanville, New Rochelle, Fordham and New York University, New York.

Saltysiak Recounts Exploits In Campaign Thru France

by George L. Bardelman

The men of the Yankee Division had just started to relax in Metz when the order came for a hurried push north. Within three days they were driving the Germans back across the Sure River, some seventy mile away. After Metz had fallen and before this new order came through, the division was looking forward to a few weeks of rest and reorganization before going back into the line.

"Be Ready To Move"

It was eight o'clock the night of December 19 when the division chief of staff, Col. B. M. McFayden, received a telephone call from the corps chief of staff. The message was short and to the point. "Be ready to move north first thing in the morning. I can't tell you now where we're going but it is near a place that rhymes with something that women wear." This destination was Arlon which rhymes with nylon, some fifty miles away.

This was the beginning of one of the most important strategic maneuvers of the war. It was the lightning-like shift of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's 3rd U. S. Army from the area around Metz to the Sure River which changed the defensive battle of the bulge into an American offensive.

This is how S/Sgt. Bernard A. Saltysiak spent the wartime Christmas season of 1944.

Social And Organizational Meeting

This gathering will be the first social and organizational meeting of the Veterans Club. It will attempt to induct the returned alumni into the club and aid them to organize their own Veterans Alumni Chapter.

McCloskey Invites Veteran Alumni

James B. McCloskey, president of the Veterans Club, commented, "I hope that the Veteran Alumni will take advantage of this get-together and better acquaint themselves with their former Alma Mater. They also can meet their former classmates".

The arrangements will be under the chairmanship of Charles C. Barrett with John M. Mattingly and John J. Sweeney as assistants.

Doctor Taggart Tells Of Tending Women Of India

You may have wondered what could be the work of a nun physician. Well, so did the Alumni Physician Group. The explanation was adequately given by Dr. Barbara Taggart at the last meeting of the physicians on November 25.

Commenting that this year the Society of Catholic Medical Missionaries will celebrate the twentieth anniversary of its founding, Dr. Taggart explained that the Society was formed to meet an especial need of the Mohammedan women in India and other mission fields.

Moslem Women Lack Medical Care

Mohammedan women are forbidden by their religion to be seen with men or to converse with them. They are not usually provided with the medical and spiritual attention that is normally furnished by missionary priests and brothers.

This medical society was formed so that spiritual and physical assistance might be given these women. The Catholic Medical Missionaries, as physicians, care for all the sick, deliver and baptize the children, and endeavor to instruct and convert the adults.

Three hospitals in India and a number of clinics in different parts of the Mohammedan world are now operated by these missionaries, according to Dr. Taggart. The Motherhouse of the Society is located in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Socialized Medicine Next Topic

The originator of the Group, Dr. Frank J. Ayd, Jr., '42, revealed that the next meeting would be held on Thursday night, January 10, 1946, in the Recreation Room of the Gym.

The Wagner - Murray - Dingell Bill which proposes state payment of all doctors instead of the present practice will be discussed.

Biologists Hear Bronushas' Talk

"The Malaria Scourge", the topic of the senior thesis of Joseph B. Bronushas, will be the lecture given before the Mendel Club on Dec. 17, in the Biology Lecture Room.

Mr. Bronushas will discuss the various types of malaria as well as the identification and prevention of the disease. He will also speak on mosquitoes, their habits, distribution and internal anatomy. The talk will be the third in a series of seminar lectures sponsored by the Mendel Club.

Coffay Speaks On Antibiotics

At the last meeting of the club, E. Paul Coffay spoke on the "Antibiotics". As Mr. Coffay explained, "Antibiotics" is a term applied to agents built up by the body to combat disease". The talk dealt principally with the two newest miracles of the drug world, penicillin and streptomycin. Mr. Coffay related the events leading up to the discovery of the drugs and traced the gradual evolution of the production of the drugs from the experimental stage to the present day commercial scale.

He gave a brief but complete summary of the properties of the drugs and enumerated the diseases for which they are most effective.

Vitamins Explained

Edward M. Rehak, president of the club, delivered the first lecture of the series. His topic was "The Vitamins". Mr. Rehak explained in detail the normal action of the vitamins on the body and the effects of a deficiency or excess of the hormones.

Traditional customs force upon me the obligation of lavishly bestowing upon my copious scandal mongers the glad spirits (keep it dry, please) of this joyous and philanthropic Yuletide season. We also have as a secondary purport (note the philologic bent we have taken for our New Year's resolution) to offer any poor misinformed would-be Santa Claus some wolfish morsels of Christmas cheer.

REFORMED RETREATANTS:—We see bliss personified on the face of Ed (Chisholm's Adversary) Rehak who told Lady Irene that it wasn't a sin for her to use paint . . . not with that face Charlie (Gotta get a car) Schmidt has been squeezing the old St. Christopher medal just a little harder . . . Joe (Stag from now on) Bronushas took that story on the St. Peter vision to heart . . . every night since then he's been taking the necessary measures to vision the twelve Apostles. Charlie (I love vitamins) Stine didn't take those romance lectures too much to heart!

DEBATABLE NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS: — John (phone call) Mudd who has resolved not to talk too much to Peggy about his pictures (those that flatter him and those that don't) . . . and Joe (I study real, real hard) Bunn says he'll wear a raincoat next time he wants a fountain drink . . . how about climbing through windows??? And Finny (Loyola's Man Mountain Dean—all 102 pounds of him) Edelen promises to gain more weight now. Whatta trying to do, kid, put yourself on a par with Dossie?

THAT LA SALLE AFFAIR:—The old dog picked up some juicy bits of stuff about the ball totter's holiday. Sid (How long you been over, son?) Roche complained that the boys walked on his hat too much . . . Jim (Draft Bait) Baker celebrated his eligibility for the Army at 12:05 on the train . . . he was serenaded too. George (our sign man) Bardelman was seen closely inspecting the baskets after the game . . . claimed somebody kept sticking a lid on the loop when he shot. Never mind, son, those two points look good. Al (his ears are still ringing from that slammed phone) Barthelme has been playing some overanxious (five fouls and your out) ball for the benefit of Miriam (school teacher) Reiter. Neill (grinning, mooocceeking skeleton) Cole just loved to take short walks after those foul shots . . . trouble was . . . it ain't allowed. Ed (Buns) Vidali acutally outdid Bill (New Ford) Cahill on the eating honors . . . first time that ever happened.

CHRISTMAS LISTS:—Dear Santa, please send John (Elephant) Blume a one way ticket to Richmond . . . oh Mary Annnnn. To George (Rassel-dazzle) Buchness one good, cheap, non-union orchestra . . . poor boy, he has his troubles. For Fred (the Glenn Davis of Loyola) Hubbell one new stomach lining. For Bob (Ethics . . . ha!) Geraghty a longer, thicker, stiffer mustache . . . says he's trying to look like Clark Gable . . . ain't got so far to go!

JUST PLAIN TID BITS:—Bob (Football Star) Trainor was "Seeing Katie Home" after that Georgetown raucous . . . but we hear he didn't make it. We're still all anxiously awaiting the announcement of that Bill (Bacteriologist) Ward and Jean compact . . . but Bill seems to be the strong silent type. Heard that Buck (Line plumber . . . er, ah, plunger) Simon pulled a "Doc" Blanchard on the "S" Bus when a little lady (?) complained she didn't "get a transfer" . . . from the back of the car to the front in two seconds flat . . . was she Philled with joy. It was a plenty good wind that kept Clint (I got my card) Bamberger out of Sobol's that fatal night . . . his pals weren't so lucky, though . . . the old pooch hasn't been near the joint since. My back legs are still wobbly from that "narrer 'scape".

Well, chillun, keep away from the eggnog bowl over the holidays. They say that nutmeg is bad for you, causes heartburn or break. Hope Santa brings me some nice bones to gnaw on. I've promised not to say anything nasty about anybody anymore this year. Who says this column isn't novel???

Sophs Will Present Hop; Music By Johnny Grimm

Final curtain will fall on Loyola College's 1945 social season with the presentation of Johnny Grimm and his Orchestra at the Sophomore Hop on Friday, December 28 in the Gymnasium.

Dancing will begin at 9 p. m. and will continue till an hour past midnight. Admission is $1.80 per couple. The dance is informal.

Buchness Chairman

Assisting him with the preparations are committeemen Edward Barrett, John Blume, Thomas Gaudreau, Bernard Saltysiak, Robert Trainor, William Peroutka, John Hyson, William Maranto and Carroll Schultz.

Johnny Grimm's Orchestra

Johnny Grimm, former student at Loyola, and his Orchestra are the music makers slated to give out with the "sweet and soft" strains of today's popular tunes.

Loyola students were loud in their praise of Johnny and his boys after his pleasing performance at the Freshman Welcoming Dance on October 31. Johnny sported twelve pieces and a vocalist to gratify one of the largest crowds to attend a dance in recent years.

Alumni Invited

"Special invitation is extended to the Alumni to attend this dance", explained Chairman Buchness, "for with many of the men home for the Christmas holidays we hope that a number of Alumni who have not been back to Loyola for a long time, especially those in the Services, will turn out for the affair".

be given outright to the college."

Only For Needy Students

The Scholarships founded would be awarded after a competitive examination of all the applicants. The scholarships would not merely be given to any winner but only to those whose financial condition would prohibit them from paying the college tuition.

Members of the class have emphasized that this is not merely a one class idea. They are confident that the proposal will be adopted by each succeeding class and that eventually a sizable enrollment can be built up.

First Participants Listed

July, 1945 graduates participating in the movement are:

J. Frank Cashen, George D. Edwards, Unto V. Errkila, Daniel C. Feeney, Edwin A. Fleishman, A. Joseph Heinekamp, Jr., E. Cuyler Jackson, Charles C. Meagher, William A. Meyer, Jr., Laurence P. Molloy and Howard J. Strott, Jr.

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company is the agency handling the fund.

Senator Tydings Interviewed

train slid into sight, stopped and took on several passengers and myself. Almost noiselessly the miniature train purred back into the passageway and within three minutes had discharged its occupants and returned.

Met Senator In Reception Room

Upstairs a page indicated to me the Reception Room and as I entered I saw Senator Tydings. We shook hands and he led me over to a window where there would be ample light for me to take notes.

"Well, what can I do for you?", encouraged Mr. Tydings. "Did you vote for the G. I. Bill of Rights?" was the first question.

Voted For G. I. Bill

"Yes, I voted for it", he asserted, "and gladly, because I am sure that it has as much justice and fairness behind it as could be amassed behind any proposition.

"Men in service have lost great opportunities in the fields of education and business, opportunities which those who did not go into Service have enjoyed. Simple equity demands that the government see that these men are not handicapped because of valiant service rendered to the government.

"And there is no reason", replied the Senator to my next question about the advantages of small Liberal Arts colleges, "why Loyola College can't offer returning veterans opportunities equal to those offered by larger colleges. This is not always the case, but in many cases it will be true".

Senator Tydings took a cigarette from his pocket and touched a match to it. Blue swirls of smoke rose in the sunlight as he answered another question.

Knowledge Imparts Wisdom

"What part, in your opinion, can a college education play in making better citizens?" Senator Tydings paused momentarily. "The main function of a College", he explained, "is to impart knowledge and wisdom. The more knowledge and wisdom a man has, the wiser he should be in his living and usually is.

"The acquisition of knowledge requires thinking, and the process of seeing proper relationships, evolves wisdom. When we have achieved reasonable wisdom, we are in a position to do what is best for our country and our fellow men."

The subject of rehabilitation for the Philippine Islands was next broached. Senator Tydings is Chairman of the Senate Committee on Territories and Insular Affairs. This Committee is endeavoring to formulate and pass important legislation regarding the rehabilitation of the Philippine Islands.

Rehabilitate Philippines

"Tell me then, sir", I inquired, "do you think the Philippines should be granted independence in 1946?"

"Absolutely!" With sharp tonal emphasis he added, "Do American boys want to fight another war like the other ones we have been engaged in?"

"The world needs a recognition of the fundamental rights of small nations, if it wants peace.

"I am about to report today on a bill for the rehabilitation of the Philippines. I think the Philippines can be rehabilitated in the not too distant future. This will make for their success as an independent nation."

Duty Of Collegiate Press

Before departing, I asked Mr. Tydings whether he thought the Collegiate Press could play a part in informing college students of their civic obligations.

"The Collegiate Press has one goal, and that is to give to the student body, within the limits of its size, the fullest measure of information. From this information it should draw proper ideas for the moulding of the mind along practical idealistic lines."

Ivy League Football

For some time now, The New York Times has featured the sports articles of Arthur Daley in his regular column, "Sports of the Times". The day before Thanksgiving, Mr. Daley devoted his attention to an interesting commentary on the recent Intercollegiate Agreement of the so-called Ivy League.

Briefly, this agreement consists in an attempt by Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Penn, Princeton and Yale to clean up what is tantamount to professionalism in intercollegiate football. Its three main provisos outlaw athletic scholarships, freshman participation on any varsity team, and more than three years' intercollegiate competition by any one player.

Mr. Daley calls this plan idealistic. Nevertheless, he praises it because, as he says, "It is the proselytizing and subsidizing, each made easy by an athletic scholarship or disguised version of same, which bring evils and excesses in their wake".

Loyola is not a member of the Ivy League. It has never played the colleges belonging to it in any intercollegiate sport. But Loyola and all other men's colleges cannot fail to recognize the implications in this attempt to clean up present day football and collegiate sports in general.

It is these conditions that have forced large universities like the University of Chicago off the field and have prevented small colleges like Loyola from participating.

It was with relief, then, that the thoughtful press, as personified in Mr. Daley, welcomed this announcement of the Ivy League whose member colleges have perhaps the greatest collective prestige in the United States. The proponents of this plan realize that it is idealistic and almost entirely impractical; they are aware that the quality of play will be diminished; therefore they have bound themselves under the strictest of contracts. It is to be hoped that these colleges will be supported by the crowds.

American colleges, large and small, must now choose a definite course of action. If they choose to maintain their present system of professionalism under the guise of wholesale athletic scholarships, then there can only ensue fierce competition with the firmly established professional league.

If, on the other hand, American colleges follow the leadership of the Ivy League, we may expect a spirited and representative collegiate football, admittedly somewhat inferior to professional ball.

The Ivy League's proposal presages no more than a long overdue analysis of the modern American college: either it is an excellent producer of educated morons or it is an institution which develops the full man, in both his mental and physical capacities, so that he might better serve himself, his neighbors and his God.

The Reader's Right

October 19, 1945

Dear Father Bunn,

Frankly this is an embarrassing task. I cast about for an explanation of my delay in answering your letter but none seems worthy. It is a fact, though, that it was received just prior to my second departure for overseas when there were countless arrangements to make and details to settle. I have been on the move constantly since that time.

Your plans for the chapel are most appealing; certainly there could not be a more appropriate tribute to the Loyola men who saw their responsibility and shouldered it so completely. Some of my very best friends were among those who gave their lives. Fred Cook, Jack Delahay, Frank Brown and Harry Rogers were of especial closeness.

Those friends typify something; a spirit elusive of definition, a quality difficult to put into words. Oh, courage, fealty, honor—yes, but more than that. Each one of those boys volunteered for service. Yet never were there four people who loved life and enjoyed living more than they. If one had ascribed loftiness of purpose to their action, all would have protested and perhaps laughed. They probably didn't give it much thought.

Unquestionably they met their end unflinchingly and their God humbly. I can but feebly express their character as right-minded, dutiful and above all self-forgetful, selfless in every respect.

I am happy that the amount left with you, such as it is, should be used for this purpose and the enclosed is a token supplement. I hope to be home in time to assist in the raising of funds.

Please give my best to Father Higgins and Doctor Doehler.

Trusting that you are well and that you will remember me in your prayers, I am, Father,

Sincerely,

Lt. Herbert R. O'Connor, Jr., '43, USA.

Camp Angeles, Luzon

Nov. 3, 1945

The Rev. John W. Fay, S. J.

Dear Father John,

My apologies for falling behind in our correspondence—no excuse to offer except a lot of traveling.

I received the October 12 issue of THE GREYHOUND and I see you're back in your old haunts on the second floor of the Science building. Loyola seems to be expanding all the time. I probably won't know the place when I return. The new chapel is a fine idea and will add lots to the College.

As for myself, I'm on a sightseeing tour. We left San Francisco in August and spent twenty days at Eniwetok, Marshall Islands. Our next stop was Manila. This camp is sixty miles north of Manila, nothing but a tent city on an old Jap airfield. Manila is in pretty bad shape, nothing was spared and all buildings are spoiled. The only thing left in the Walled City is a beautiful Catholic Church. It's full of every type of shell hole, but still stands over all the ruins.

As you know, most of the Filipinos are Catholic. The natives are allowed to wander through the camp and many of them wear medals around their necks.

I see by the paper that the January class of '43 has already started its reunions. That will be the big day, when we can all get together.

Well, Father, that about brings me up to date, remember me to the Faculty and don't be too hard on the boys and their lab drawings.

Sincerely,

Pvt. Jack Dorsch, '43

Christmas, 1945

It's just times like Christmas that make one realize what an incomparable privilege it is to be attending a Catholic College.

Rarely, if at all, do we recall this fact in an editorial, but the coming of Christmas prompts us to bring to mind the real purpose of the season, and the reason we are so inclined is that we are students of a college that teaches what this real purpose is.

A year ago, everyone hoped for the Christ Child to bring with Him peaceful relief after long, sapping years of war. This Christmas, in 1945, we see that our hopes and prayers were answered by the Infant. And so we should be grateful on Christmas Day.

But the duty does not cease here. We should be thankful, yes, for we have the wish we asked for. Now, the most pressing duty is that, possessing our sought for gift, we use it in a proper manner. And here, precisely, is how we come to realize what a privilege it is to be able to attend a school that can tell us how we are to use this gift of peace.

Loyola is such a college. Loyola can and does teach its students what Christmas really means. It imparts this knowledge not only at Christmas, though emphasis is added at this period, but throughout the year, Loyola reminds its students of the Divinity of the Christ Child and the momentous importance of His coming.

Our spirit, then, of 1945 and of the future, should be that we be thankful for being able to attend a Catholic College and that we act so as to preserve our precious gift of Peace.

Books On Review

by Thomas L. Lalley

John Henry Newman by John Moody (Sheed and Ward)

John Henry Newman by Charles Frederick Harrold (Longmans Green and Company)

Perhaps the most astonishing thing about Cardinal Newman and his great contemporary, Lord Acton, is the oblivion to which the reading public has assigned them. Newman's name usually connotes something; many have a nodding acquaintance with the Apologia Pro Vita Sua; but the real impact of his philosophy is completely missed. The hundredth anniversary this year of his conversion to the Catholic Church has been the occasion for more books and studies on his life.

Undoubtedly the Cardinal is a difficult subject for biography. Ever since his death there has been a need for a popular biography which would render him interesting to the average reader. Mr. Moody's biography has failed to achieve this end. The narrative, written in a repetitious "quickie" style, is generally uninteresting. The necessary details of the many intellectual controversies of which Newman was the center are presented in a manner which slackens the pace of the book. Mr. Moody has been highly touted as a convert to Catholicism under much the same circumstances as Newman, but the reader will be disappointed in his portrait.

In quite another category is the work by Professor Harrold who has already established himself as a Newman critic of scholarly merit. Prof. Harrold is a High Church Anglican and a pretty staunch one at that. But the Catholic reader will find his chapter "Defending Rome" (Newman vs. Gladstone, Kingsley and Dr. Achilli) the most impartial and admirable in the book. "Newman, of all men, needs students of active and original and penetrating minds to detect and elaborate the pregnant suggestions of a poetic thinker who has not the habit of scientific statement", said Wilfrid Ward in his classic biography. Prof. Harrold is such a student of Newman.

Those who aren't still engrossed in the Santa Claus booklets handed out by the department stores, should enjoy one of these holiday anthologies:

The Christmas Book of Legends and Stories, edited by Elva Sophronia Smith and Alice Isabel Hazeltine, first published in 1915; The Home Book of Christmas, edited by May Lamberton Becker, a slightly more adult collection; The Fireside Book of Christmas Stories, edited by Edward Wagenknecht, the most recent anthology and the Book of the Month Club dividend for December.

News In Brief

Lieut. (j.g.) John R. Myers, III, ex. '43, was home recently for thirty days. He has been flying one of Uncle Sam's "Harpoons", a plane unknown to most of the public, since details about it were quite secret until after V-J Day.

This was the first time that Lt. Myers had seen his son, John R. Myers, IV, who was born last April.

William J. Moran, ex. '43, who will be remembered as a champion golfer, is enjoying a well earned vacation. This is the first time that he has been home since he donned his uniform as a member of Uncle Sam's Navy. Bill is one of the survivors of the U. S. S. Franklin.

Lieut. (j.g.) Frank J. Feild, ex. '43, expects to be home by the time the next issue of THE GREYHOUND appears. When he arrives, there will be wedding bells for himself and Nancy Sehlstedt.

Corporal Jack Dorsch, ex. '43, when last heard from, expected to move from the Philippine Islands to Japan, where he will assist in setting up communications for the Eighth Army.

Second Lieut. Joseph T. Tewey, Jr., '42, USAAF, recently completed his second month of occupational duty as a Radar and Signal officer with the Fifth Air Force in Korea. He is now assigned to the 308th Bomb Wing, Seoul, Korea.

ember 7, 1944. He received further training in Normandy with Co. F, 104th Inf. His first taste of action was at Luneville, France, where the 26th relieved the 4th Armored Division. After fighting through the Saar Valley to within one kilometer of the German border, he was made staff sergeant and put in charge of a rifle squad.

Relief came on December 9, and Bernie was sent to Paris on a combat pass. Here he caught up on some lost sleep and saw the historic sights.

He rejoined his company at Metz December 14 for a thirty day rest, but then came Runstedt's drive and the leave was cancelled.

The rest of this historic drive can best be told in Bernie's own words.

Marched In Snow

"We were moved by truck from Metz to the Luxembourg border. Then began the march across snow covered Luxembourg in the bitter cold. Within the next two days we engaged the Jerries and forced them back until Christmas Eve. Welcome relief came that night and we were sent back a few miles to a little town. We spent Christmas Eve night in a barn.

"I heard Mass Christmas morning in a little chapel about four miles from Eschdorf. The priest gave general absolution and everyone was able to go to communion.

"I still remember the chaplain's sermon that Christmas morning. He said, 'In the absence of a crib in the church, let all of us make a crib for the Infant Jesus in our hearts. Let us thank Him for His many blessings. Let us thank Him for the success we have had in stopping Runstedt's drive, and so, praying in this way, we will be united spiritually with our families, for they will be kneeling at the crib of the Infant that morning.' After Mass we had a hot turkey meal in the barn.

Discharged July 13

"Our rest was short-lived though, because we again relieved the 101st that afternoon. I was sent back to Luxembourg City on January 7 with frost-bitten feet. I was relayed back to England and then back to the States March 12, and was discharged July 13."

Bernie added, "It's great to be home and back in college again. I consider myself fortunate."

Physicist Heads Science Meeting

The Rev. John P. Delaney, S. J., professor of Physics at Loyola, was guest chairman at a recent meeting of the Washington-Maryland Chapter of the Catholic Round Table of Science.

Also representing Loyola at the conference, held at Trinity College, were the Rev. Joseph S. Didusch, S. J., professor of Biology; the Rev. Edward S. Hauber, S. J., professor of Chemistry; and Mr. Joseph A. Sellinger, S. J., associate professor of Chemistry.

Georgetown Seismologist Lectures
Sister Catherine Dorothea, president of Trinity, extended a welcome to all the delegates. The Rev. William C. Repetti, S. J., of Georgetown University, delivered an address on "A General Survey of Seismology".

As part of its consideration of modern science, the Chapter passed a resolution calling for the publication of all the secret data accumulated by the government during its wartime research.

Fr. Delaney Photographer

In addition to his studies of Physics, Fr. Delaney has also focused national attention upon the statue of Our Lady of Evergreen through his astronomical photographs.

The first of these, "The Madonna of the Stars", traced a celestial halo for the Blessed Virgin by a twelve hour exposure of a camera trained on the statue's head. The most recent, "The Falling Star", records a meteorite trail across the paths of the polar stars.

Greyhound Finishes Survey On Past Editors-in-Chief

by Thomas L. Lalley

(This is the second in a series of two articles on former editors-in-chief of THE GREYHOUND.)

The most outstanding feature of the last twelve editors-in-chief of THE GREYHOUND has been the essential wartime services which they have rendered their country. Four are now stationed overseas.

Tenth editor was Lawrence T. Mullen of the class of 1937. Shortly after finishing school here, he accepted a position with the firm of Gaudreau and Gaudreau, architects of Loyola's proposed memorial chapel. Later Whitman, Requardt and Associates employed him to aid in the design of Edgewood Arsenal. At the beginning of the war he enlisted in the Navy. Mullen received V-5 training at Brown University and is now an instructor in the ROTC program there. Last February he married Miss Nancy Abrams of this city.

Two Continue Newspaper Work

William W. Mahoney, '38, entered the University of Maryland Law School and graduated with highest honors in his class. While studying there, he worked for the Baltimore News-Post as Photography Editor and later as Copy Editor. He was inducted into the Army at Fort Meade, assigned to Army ordnance, and sent to Okinawa a few days before the end of the war. Sgt. Mahoney is stationed there at the present time.

Another Baltimore newspaper, The Sun, has employed the twelfth editor, Joseph B. Kelly, '39, as a sports writer. He covers Prep School Football, Ice Hockey and Horse Racing. Before his work at The Sun, he was with the Virginia Life Insurance Company.

Schaub Admitted To Bar

The legal profession claimed another editor, Paul N. Schaub, '40, who graduated from Georgetown University Law School in 1944. He became affiliated with Frank Hogan and Company but received a leave of absence last March in order to become a trial examiner for the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington, D. C. He is now home for a brief vacation.

Carl F. Gottschalk, '41, was employed in the administrative offices of the Glenn L. Martin Company. Enlisting soon afterwards in the Navy, he studied at Columbia University. He became an instructor upon completion of his course. Later Gottschalk was given a medical discharge and he is now studying law at Maryland.

Barrett Meets Fr. Grady

Perhaps the most extensive career belongs to Charles Barrett, '42. After graduation, he was drafted into the Army and assigned to the Medical Corps. Almost immediately, he was transferred to the Intelligence Corps as a British liaison officer.

Preparatory to shipment overseas, he studied the records of prominent New York business houses in order to achieve the complete understanding of foreign trade which his position requires. Lt. Barrett arrived in England, where his duties required travel throughout the entire island. It was on one of these trips that he met the Rev. Richard F. Grady, S. J., former Loyola professor now a chaplain, in London. Last summer, Barrett was shifted to duty in the environs of Paris and expects to be transferred soon to Berlin.

Sixteenth Editor At Covington

George W. McManus, '43, sixteenth editor, was commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve shortly before his graduation here. He was given Navy training at Harvard University for five months.

Running With The Hounds

by Charles Schmidt

Tonight and tomorrow night offer the toughest assignments to date for the Greyhound quintet. They have two trips to make on two successive nights. Tonight, they travel to Ashland, Virginia, where they will engage the Blue Jackets of Randolph Macon, and tomorrow night, they journey to Washington, D. C., to tangle with the Eagles of American University. Both are formidable schools. Last year, the Blue Jackets humbled the Hounds 39-33, but with the team we have this year, the only thing that should keep a victory from our boys is a failure to complete the trip. The Greyhounds should at least reverse last year's score.

The tussle with the Eagles, however, presents a very different story. With practically the whole of last year's squad back, the Eagles present a tough poser indeed for the Green and Grey. In their first encounter of last year, the Hounds were literally rolled over as they were handed a 76-35 shellacking. The second meeting proved a bit different however as the Hounds held them to a slim 42-39 struggle.

Considering the returning veterans of last year's squad, Johns Hopkins doesn't appear to be too tough. On the strength of the size of their freshman class, the Jays should be able to offer a typical Hopkins team, one that saves everything it has until it meets Loyola. Only two men from last year's squad have returned, Mitch Gold, forward, and Joe Bonura, guard. With a coach like C. Gardner Mallonee, however, Hopkins can always be considered an obstacle to any team's surge to victory.

After Christmas, the Hounds again make a trip to Scranton, Pennsylvania, to take on the Tommies of Scranton University, a fellow Jesuit institution. Whenever two Jesuit schools get together, you can never be sure of the outcome, and since we don't know what Scranton has, we can't pick a winner, but we can hope for a winner—the Greyhounds.

After a second tilt with Randolph Macon on January 12, the Hounds again take to the road—this time to Emmitsburg, Maryland, to take on Mount Saint Mary's.

Loyola fans will always remember that final tournament game with the Saints in 1944 when the Hounds were handed a 40-39 defeat, and are rooting for a decisive victory for the Green and Grey for the revenge for that and the two defeats of last year. Last year, the Saints beat Loyola twice, 50-36 and 55-43.

Another tough assignment faces the Hounds during the week of January 19, when they play three games in five days. On the nineteenth, they engage Western Maryland; on the twenty-first, Georgetown again; and on the twenty-third, Catholic University.

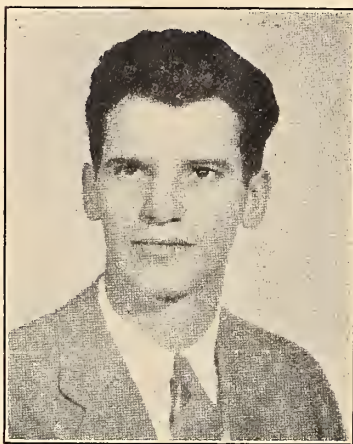

Lefty Reitz Returns To Loyola After Twenty Months In Navy

Emil G. (Lefty) Reitz, Director of Athletics at Loyola College from 1936 to April, 1944, has been discharged from the United States Navy and has returned to continue his directorship of Loyola sports.

Mr. Reitz received his discharge from the Navy on Saturday, December 1, after spending twenty months in that branch of his country's service, and returned to Loyola on Wednesday, December 5.

At Loyola

Coming to Loyola as a coach in 1936, after football had been dropped from the sports roster and sports enthusiasm was at an all time low, Lefty quickly showed his ability as a coach by directing both the basketball and baseball teams to successful seasons. The first Reitz-coached basketball team ended the season in third place, and the baseball team went through the entire season with only one defeat.

Emil (Lefty) Reitz

The next year he was appointed Athletic Director, and since then his teams have been recognized as well coached squads capable of a high brand of play. Under his tutelage, Loyola won the Mason-Dixon Conference Basketball Championship in '39-'40 and '40-'41, and both the Conference Championship and Tournament Crown in '41-'42.

He has produced such basketball stars as Bernie Goldberg, Jim Lacy, the Bock brothers, Bernie Thobe, Mat Glushakow and many others.

In 1942, he was elected president of the Mason-Dixon Conference, and held that position until his induction into the Navy.

His baseball teams took the Mason-Dixon Conference Championships for three straight years, 1941, 1942 and 1943.

Besides winning championships in basketball and baseball, his teams have copped first honors in tennis, swimming, track and soccer.

In these sports he has produced a host of stars such as the Stien-gass brothers in swimming and diving, the Thaler boys in tennis, Joe Reppetti and Babe Schwalenberg in soccer, and Chuck Burke, Loyola's baseball mentor for the 1944 and '45 seasons, and Ed Pasourek in baseball.

In the field of Physical Education, he instituted a highly advanced calisthenics period and intramural program. It was he who had the College construct an obstacle course on the campus for the students to use, and it was he who inaugurated the bodily contact sports of "Rugby" and "Reitzkreig".

And Before

Before coming to Loyola College, Lefty received his education at Loyola and Calvert Hall College High Schools and at Villanova College. The first two years of his high school training were spent at Loyola where he won major letters for baseball in both years. In his junior year, he transferred to Calvert Hall College High School and won recognition as a three letter man for participation in football, baseball and basketball. He was twice selected on the All-State Basketball team.

After graduating from Calvert Hall, Lefty enrolled at Villanova College, and in his first year made all three major freshman teams, baseball, basketball and football.

In his senior year, he was chosen to captain the Blue and White basketball team and guided it to a successful season. In the game that year between the Wildcats and St. John's of Brooklyn, which had four All-Americans on its roster, he scored ten points only to see his team go down to a 21-20 defeat.

After his career at Villanova, he played professional baseball for Albany in the International League. In the pre-season exhibition games he pitched a victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Abandoning his professional baseball career, he returned to Baltimore in 1933, and spent the next two years coaching football and basketball at the University of Baltimore. He left Baltimore University and came to Loyola College in the Fall of 1936.

Explorers Edge Hounds, 45-42

The Greyhound basketballers opened the new season by bowing to a smooth working La Salle College quint, 45-42, two weeks ago in Philadelphia.

Spearheaded by their whirlwind forward, Bobby Walters, the host five held the lead the entire game until, with a little over three minutes of play remaining, Bernie Saltysiak bucketed a layup to hoist the Green and Grey into a 40-39 lead, and Al Barthelme followed with a set shot for a three-point advantage.

However, Walters tallied for the Explorers with a one-hander from the side, and a team mate, Les Brutschea, applied the clincher a few seconds later with another one-hander on a fast break.

The victors exploded into a 9-3 lead at the outset of the contest, then faded near the end of the half as field goals by Sid Roche and Neill Cole closed up the gap to 15-13 at intermission.

In the second half, the point-making tempo increased with the Hounds dogging the Explorers' heels, never more than five points off the pace at any time. Then Saltysiak and Barthelme flipped in their pair of quick cord-ticklers to lift the Green and Grey into a short-lived lead. La Salle's unleashing of their fast-breaking attack, kept well in hand up to this point by the Hounds' zone defense, brought the points that meant the margin of victory.

Barthelme disturbed the webbing for 17 points to pace Loyola's scoring, while Roche weighed in with ten counters. The rest of the tallying was well distributed among Cole, Saltysiak, Jim Ward and George Bardelman.

Loyola Drubs Gallaudet In League Opener

Hounds Play R-M Tonight At Ashland

Having won their opening Conference game from Gallaudet last Friday night, the Hounds will be after victory number two in league play tonight, when they travel to Ashland, Virginia, to engage the Blue Jackets of Randolph-Macon College.

Bardelman Team Captain

Bardelman, team captain, will lead the same five against the Jackets as started the Gallaudet game. Included in this group will be Al Barthelme who scored 21 points against the Silents, Buck Ward, Sid Roche and Bernie Saltsiak.

Last year, the Hounds fell victim to the Blue Jackets by the score of 39-33.

Tall And Experienced Squad

Taylor H. Sanford, the coach of the Randolph-Macon quintet, has a tall and experienced group. Five members of the fourteen man squad are veterans of last year's team, and six players are over six feet tall. Brewster Cornwell, one of the veterans of last year's team, stands 6 feet 5 inches.

Greatest worry to the Blue Jacket rooters is the fact that Whit Crowell, star forward of last year and this year's captain, has passed his physical and is awaiting call into the service. Billy Hallmark, another of last year's veterans, is also awaiting call.

Staff Picks 'All American'

With the collegiate football season completed, except for the bowl games on New Year's Day, THE GREYHOUND offers its version of an All-American Team.

Six of our selections are members of the two top service teams, Army and Navy, but the other five selections represent five other major colleges.

Three members of the squad were on the All-American team last year, Walker of Yale, and the touchdown twins of Army, Blanchard and Davis.

THE GREYHOUND All-American is as follows:

Hoya Five Tops Loyola 57-46

Georgetown's Hoyas played selfish guests in helping the Green and Grey christen the 1945-46 cage campaign before an overflow crowd at Evergreen two Saturdays ago. They downed the Hounds, 57-46, in their first home contest.

After exchanging goals through the first few minutes of the contest, the Hounds hopped into a momentary 9-7 lead before the Hoyas rallied to tie up the tilt, 12-12, midway through the first half.

However, an alien assault, paced by Ken Engles, George Durkin and Irvin Ornstein, skyrocketed them into a 27-21 advantage as the half-time whistle sounded.

Following the rest period, George Bardelman and Jim Ward started Loyola on a basket barrage which severed the Washingtonians' lead to a 31-28 count, but another quick flurry by the invaders made it 44-30 with 12 minutes left in the game.

In the closing minutes, Sid Roche ruffled the cords with two set shots, and Al Barthelme clicked with a pair of one-handers sandwiched by Bill Thaler's four markers on foul throws in an attempt to rekindle the flickering flame of victory. The visitors' superior speed and defensive prowess, however, escorted them to the triumph.

Roche topped the Hounds' in the tallying department with 12 points, while Barthelme followed closely with 11.

Green And Gray Triumphs, 47-35

The Green and Grey scored its second straight win of the young season last Saturday night as they downed the Army War College 47 to 35 at Evergreen. This was Loyola's second win in four starts, having dropped its first two encounters to La Salle and Georgetown.

The Hounds hopped to a 14-2 lead in the first ten minutes of the game, but after that were forced to play the War College on even terms.

Bardelman was high scorer for Loyola with 10 points, but was closely followed by Roche, Ward and Barthelme with 8 points each.

Scoring honors for the night were carried off by Gerber's 20 points.

Barthelme Cops Scoring Honors

Increasing their scoring pace as the game progressed, the Greyhounds rolled to a convincing 61 to 41 victory over the Silents of Gallaudet College in the Mason-Dixon Conference opener last Friday night in Roosevelt High School gym, in Washington.

Barthelme High Scorer

Al Barthelme, freshman and ex-Coast Guardsman, again led the scoring parade as he swished 9 field goals and 3 out of 4 foul shots through the netting to total 21 points for the game and bring his three game total to 49.

Bardelman, with 10, and Roche and Ward, with 8 each, also figured heavily in the one sided win, as did the fine defensive playing of Cole and Saltsiak.

Playing a loose brand of ball during the first ten minutes of the game, the Hounds found themselves on the short end of a 10-8 count. After this, however, they settled down and took a 26-20 half time lead.

Hounds Fasten Pace

As the second half opened, the Hounds again fastened their pace and jumped to a 59 to 33 lead with three minutes remaining in the contest. At this point coach Reitz sent in a complete second team and the Silents closed the gap to 20 points as the game ended.

Roy Holcomb led the Gallaudet offensive as he sank 7 goals, all from the outside, and 3 foul shots to pace the losers with 17 points.

ALUMNI DOINGS

By Edward A. Doehler, '30

Alumni Retreat

Four years ago the Alumni Association of Loyola College was holding its Annual Retreat at Manresa-on-Severn over the first week-end in December. It was in this setting of prayer and meditation that these members of the Association received the news of Pearl Harbor. Several members of the group, members of the United States Naval Reserve, were actually called directly from the Chapel at Manresa to their posts of duty.

This year the picture was quite different. The Alumni Retreat was held over the week-end of November 30 - December 2. Many of the group that attended in 1941 were present, including one of the men who left the Chapel that December 7 to report for service. This time there were discharged servicemen noticeable in the group.

The retreat was made by 41 men. It was a pleasure to note among those present three of the Connor brothers, John S. Connor, Jr., Joseph V. Connor and Louis G. Connor. John and Louis have just returned from service with the Navy. Among the veterans in the group were J. Carroll Power and Walter D. Power, William J. Litter, Paul R. Donohue, Robert P. Troy and John J. Kennedy, Jr. The Rev. W. L. Quinn, '40, at present stationed at St. Matthew's Cathedral, Washington, was present for a time on Sunday, at which time the group was also joined for a time by the Very Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., President of Loyola, the Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S. J., Faculty Representative, and Mr. Joseph A. Sellinger, S. J.

Notes About Alumni Members

Word has just reached the Editor that Joseph Donohue, Class of 1940, is now back in civilian ranks and was married to the former Miss Florence Groszer on October 20, 1945 at St. Edward's Church.

News of weddings and births often reaches us too late to be real news. But we do want to pass on to members such items as we receive. J. Carroll Power informed us at the Retreat that he was married on June 12, 1943 to Miss Theresa M. Di Pace in Wilmington, Del., with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Harry A. Quinn officiating. Carroll tells us that he is the proud father of a son, John Nicholas Power, born on March 8, 1945.
